FOUL PLAY IS SUSPECTED IN DUGGAN LEAP

Mayor O'Dwyer Directs New York Police to Make Thorough Investigation Into Mystery

SCOUT SUICIDE THEORY

New York, Dec. 22—(AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer today directed New York police to make a "thorough investigation" of the mysterious death of Laurence Duggan.

The mayor acted after receiving a telegram from former Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, who said he was convinced the death of the one-time State Department expert was not suicide.

Duggan plunged to his death Monday night from his 16th floor office just off Fifth Avenue.

The police will seek to find out whether he committed suicide, was the victim of an accident as his relatives maintain, or was the object of foul play.

The suggestion that "foul play" had figured in the former State Department expert's fatal 16-story plunge from his Manhattan office was raised yesterday by Rep. Karl Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

This was reportedly followed by a message from Sumner Welles, former under-secretary of state, asking New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer to order a thorough police probe of the death.

Welles said he was convinced Duggan had not committed suicide.

Mundt had said there was "more than a slight possibility of foul play" that might "lead directly to the Communist espionage conspirators." Later, he said, he had no evidence of his own to support his suspicions.

Yesterday afternoon ex-Communist courier Whitaker Chambers, who purportedly once accused Duggan of giving him confidential government papers, denied he ever made such an accusation.

The FBI disclosed that 10 days ago it questioned Duggan, but added, without elaborating, that the questioning was merely "routine."

Welles and two other former high ranking State Department officials yesterday strongly defended Duggan's record of 14 years service in the State Department.

So far, police records have listed the 45-year-old Duggan as having either jumped or fallen to his death Monday night from the office of the Institute of International Education, of which he was president. Police said there were no indications of a struggle.

Department of Justice officials handling a federal grand jury investigation of espionage said a subpoena had been issued for Duggan to testify before it. The house committee in Washington also said it had not called Duggan.

A grand jury was expected to hear testimony today from Francis B. Sayre, former assistant secretary of state.

KILLED RETURNING FROM A YULE PARTY

Pittsburgh, Dec. 22—(AP)—A 19-year-old Rosenbaum department store employee was killed and four others hurt in an auto accident early today while returning home from a Christmas party at the store.

Dead was Miss Jay Watson, 19, critical condition at Allegheny General Hospital was Miss Margaret Turcotte, 20. Treated for minor injuries at the hospital were Rosella Tadoycois, 20; Blanche Melchior, 39; and Charles McCartney, 34. The car in which they were riding skidded and struck a tree on Ferryville avenue.

SELLS TREES AT LOSS

Pittsburgh, Dec. 22—(AP)—Gene Rosenfeld offered Christmas trees 10 feet tall for 50 cents each yesterday on the south side. Ordinarily such trees would bring $7 to $5. "The public has been gouged," said Rosenfeld. "I'm selling the trees at a loss as long as anyone wants them."

Big Hollywood Studio Being Converted Entirely To Video

Hollywood, Dec. 22—(AP)—Television—The baby whose bounces have been followed by many worried Hollywood eyes is getting ready to take bigger steps.

Hal Roach, for more than 30 years—producer of motion picture comedies, today begins the first of a series of television productions. And from now on, says Roach, all his work will go into the television field.

If, as video, insiders say, films are the lifeblood of the new industry, Roach's entry into the field might be regarded as a major transfer.

And producers already in the field are inclined to welcome the old master openly. Despite the dozens of small video production companies which have mushroomed up here in this talent mecca, there seems to be plenty of room for competition.

Major video producers claim that the break with the movies—reshooting old westerns and other films on television—is not far distant. Costs are averaging nearly $10,000 per half-hour program so far, but the television producers say they're determined to make good original shows for the festive trade.

Dutch Capture Indonesian Capital On Sumatra and All But Two Main Cities In Java

By The Associated Press

Dutch troops captured the Indonesian republic's capital on Sumatra today and all but two of the main cities in central Java in a whirlwind campaign pressed despite scorched earth tactics.

As the Dutch troops swept ahead, the United States' Economic Cooperation Administration halted all Marshall plan aid for Dutch Indonesia. The ECA had allocated Indonesia and The Netherlands $300,000,000 from the U. S. treasury this year.

The United Nations Good Offices Committee told the Security Council the Dutch were planning their current campaign against the Indonesian republic while still corresponding with the republic through the committee.

Q. Roosevelt Identified As Crash Victim

Hong Kong, Dec. 22—(AP)—Quentin Roosevelt's body was believed to be one of four still in the ash of a Chinese air transport that crashed, killing 35 persons yesterday on Basalt Island, seven miles from here.

He was a grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt.

Fourteen bodies, all mangled beyond recognition, have been recovered. They will be transported by police launch to Hong Kong tomorrow.

Pilots at the scene of the crash estimated today that the C-54 was flying 200 miles an hour when its right wing struck 400 feet from the 554-foot summit of the Rocky Island. The plane was on the Hong Kong beam, en route from Shanghai, but too low.

Parts of the plane were strewn for half a mile. Two of the huge engines were hurled 300 feet.

The 28-year old Roosevelt had brushed with danger many times before—as an army captain in World War II and in hazardous airlift missions to isolated Chinese Nationalist troops. But his death came yesterday on a routine business trip, on the normally easy flight between Shanghai and Hong Kong.

Young Roosevelt was vice president of CNAC. He passed up two fully loaded transports on the same flight and boarded an extra (Turn to Page Seven)

Wide Search On For Mother Who Kidnaps Her Own Child

Harrisburg, Dec. 22—(AP)—A nationwide search was on today for a 21-year-old woman charged with kidnapping her own child from its foster parents.

District Attorney Carl B. Shelley said last night he had sworn out a felony warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Jeanne Morgan Bragat, and her husband John M. Bragat, 35 of Tacoma, Wash.

Shelley said the couple made off with blonde three-year-old Vickie Jeanne Snyder from the home of her grandparents who had adopted her.

"The child was legally adopted by Harry M. Snyder, of Harrisburg, about two years ago," Shelley said. "The mother signed away all her rights to the child when she put her up for adoption. That makes her no different than anyone else."

Meanwhile, state police sent out instructions to police between here and Tacoma to pick up the couple who are believed to be driving a southern route to Washington.

Shelley said Mrs. Bragat stopped at Snyder's home here Monday and received permission to take the child to visit mutual friends in Hummelstown 10 miles away.

The Snyders said they asked that she be returned by 6 p. m. so she could attend a Christmas party in her honor at a nearby church.

"We checked with the friends late in the evening when Vickie hadn't returned," Snyder said, "and learned that they hadn't been there."

Vickie was four months old when her mother left her with her grandparents following a divorce from the child's father, he said.

"The next three years were happy ones for Vickie and us," the Snyders told a reporter last night. "We legally adopted Vickie and she became a part of our hearts."

Mrs. Snyder said her son, Harry H. Snyder, the father of the child, has lived at Santa Monica, Calif., for two years.

MURRAY REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE SUBPOENA

Washington, Dec. 22—(AP)—CIO President Philip Murray is cold-shouldering a subpoena issued by the house labor committee's one-man subcommittee, Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.).

The lawmaker threatened to turn the matter over to the Justice Department for "proper action."

Hoffman had ordered the labor leader to appear at a hearing today on the strike at the Shakerape Fishing Tackle plant at Kalamazoo, Mich. Three members of the CIO United Steelworkers were jailed yesterday for refusing questions about a raid on the plant December 1.

Falls to Death

Laurence Duggan, 43, former State Department aide who plunged to his death from his 16th story office in New York, was reported to have had information of value to the federal grand jury investigating espionage.

Duggan, who was president of the Institute of International Relations, had been named as one of the sources who passed information and secret documents to Whitaker Chambers. He is shown here testifying before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee in Washington.

Truman Leaves To Rejoin His Family

Washington, Dec. 22—(AP)—President Truman left by plane today for Independence, Mo., to spend Christmas.

Accompanying him were a secretary and his personal physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham; Mrs. Graham and the two Graham children.

The presidential plane, "Independence," took off at 10:07 a. m. Ordinarily it is a four-hour flight to Kansas City, but airport officials said that the plane would be bucking 70-mile-an-hour headwinds today. From Kansas City, the presidential party will drive to Independence.

Mr. Truman left in a holiday mood. Just before boarding the plane, he waved to reporters and the crowd seeing him off and said: "I hope Santa Claus brings you everything you want."

The president plans to return to Washington Dec. 29. He was not able to put away the cares of office entirely for his holiday. Along with presents for his family, he took with him a briefcase full of work for himself.

Old Alias Santa Takes Over Business Office For Gift Shop

A stranger stepped through the front door of the Times-Mirror office today and blinked in amazement at the strange surroundings. Finally he spoke:

"I guess I'm in the wrong place. I'm looking for the newspaper office."

"This is the Times-Mirror," the business office staff assured him. "Well then what's happened?" he asked. "What's all this stuff piled up around here so you can hardly see the desks? It looks like a department store."

"Oh these things," the office staff chuckled, "are the toys and clothing and fruit and candy that Alias Santa Claus has collected from the good folks of Warren county in the past several weeks to lend a helping hand to needy youngsters and older folks on Christmas."

See that big stack of boxes over by the door—they're all ready to be delivered. And see that big stack over there in the corner—well, Alias Santa himself is working behind them somewhere, but I guess he's too busy to talk to anyone."

"Who says I'm too busy," the jovial bewhiskered gent roared as he nimbly climbed over a big stack of boxes. "I was just coming over to tell you about some special requests I have."

"First of all I need a sled for a youngster who has his heart set on one. Then there's a family which is desperately in need of a used electric washing machine. There's seven school-age kids in this family, and the father is an invalid. Then there's a crippled girl who needs a pair of special shoes. Any of you good neighbors who want to help out in any of these projects, get in touch with me right away at the Times-Mirror office."

"Oh yes," Alias Santa added, "I mustn't forget to check my list of contributions for today."

"Here's a sealed envelope that's addressed to 'The father who has been ill' from Mrs. Anonymous—you'll remember, he's the man who's been bed-ridden since July."

"A 'Christian Friend' sends along $1.00 with this little note pinned to it: 'Let us not forget the real meaning of Christmas—Not just Santa Claus and giving of gifts, but that Christ is born the Saviour of the world, and soon He is coming back again. May the Lord Jesus Christ bless both you and your work.'"

NEW CABINET IS APPROVED BY KAI-SHEK

New Regime is Committed To "Honorable Peace" As Troops Continue Retreat

DEAL IS ANTICIPATED

Nanking, Dec. 22—(AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek gave the go ahead today to a new cabinet committed to an "honorable peace." But prospects for peace in China are dim.

Chiang's troops were in southward retreat, all of north China and the area of east central China north of the Yangtze appeared doomed. Jumpy Nanking residents fretted.

In this dark picture, Chiang approved a cabinet selected by Premier Sun Fo. The fact the cabinet was approved by Chiang was significant. Observers felt Chiang showed by this act that he was still boss of the Nationalist government and was not about to quit.

Sun announces Nationalist China would fight on until it could secure an honorable peace. Then he said there would be no surrender to the Communists. Observers felt some sort of a deal might be offered the Reds. Others felt the Communists would not want to make peace with a government headed by Chiang.

With the situation to the north crumbling fast, there was a possibility that the new cabinet may have to take its heels soon.

The next major nationalist stand is expected to be at the Yangtze. Just what Chiang can throw at the Communists here in the way of military strength has not been shown.

The vast area north of the Yangtze was being written off by some sources. Peiping and Tientsin held out against attacking armies but both were isolated and appeared hopelessly lost.

Some reports here had the Nationalists repulsing Red attacks on the outskirts of both cities. Claims of more than 1,000 Reds destroyed were made at Peiping headquarters.

TROLLEY CAR VICTIM

Pittsburgh, Dec. 22—(AP)—Police said John Klesner, 47, last night stepped from behind a parked truck in McKees Rocks, walked into the path of a streetcar, and was killed.

KILLED BY AUTO

Pittsburgh, Dec. 22—(AP)—Nick Vukoslavich, 57, was struck and killed by an automobile yesterday in front of his home at Cheswick.

Medicos Support Nurse License Bill

Harrisburg, Dec. 22—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Medical Society today declared itself behind a proposed new law providing for state licensing of nurses.

The society, with a membership of more than 10,000 practicing physicians, announced it would support the measure to be introduced in the 1949 legislature by the Pennsylvania State Nurses' Association.

The nurses' association meanwhile asserted the measure was needed since "anyone may now nurse in Pennsylvania whether they are prepared to do so or not."

Katherine E. F. Miller, general secretary of the group, explained that the bill provides for the licensure of all who nurse for hire in two groups, the professional registered nurse and the practical nurse.

She emphasized that the proposed law requiring that no one may nurse without meeting certain qualifications "safeguards the public, raises the standard of practical nursing care and assures the physician that the practical nurse caring for his patient has met certain state requirements for practice."

SMOCK APPEALS FOR MORE HIGHWAY FUNDS

Harrisburg, Dec. 22—(AP)—The State Highways Department cannot continue to operate at the current level without additional funds, says Ray F. Smock, department secretary.

Smock made the statement last night in a radio address advocating a "wise and sound decision" on the proposed two-cent boost in the state gasoline tax. Under the proposal, the state would collect six cents on each gallon.

Smock said the administration is pledged to a "balanced highway program of maintenance and construction" that includes reconstruction of the remaining highways "to provide adequate farm-to-market roads."

He said that federal and state gasoline taxes and license fees cost about one-half cent a mile traveled.

HANGINGS ARE SURROUNDED BY SECRECY

Army Gives No Details Of Executions But Promises More Information To Press Later

BARS NEWSPAPERMEN

Tokyo, Thursday, Dec. 23—(AP)—Former Premier Hideki Tojo and six other Japanese warlords were hanged today for Japan's crimes against humanity.

Tojo was the last to die of the three Axis dictators who plunged the world into the most bloody war in history.

The army announced seven went to their deaths on the gallows in Sugamo prison, where they had been held for more than two and a half years—during and after their long trial.

Only Monday the U. S. Supreme court closed the last possible door of escape. It found it was without authority to act on the appeals of two of them, Gen. Kenji Doihara and former Premier Koki Hirota.

The seven were condemned by the international tribunal which handed out prison terms to 13 of their co-defendants.

A Buddhist priest and two U. S. chaplains were reportedly in the prison for the executions since early Wednesday.

Tojo survived his fellow dictators, Adolf Hitler of Germany and Benito Mussolini of Italy, because of American medical skill.

In September, 1945, as American troops came to arrest him, Tojo shot himself with a revolver. Quick medical attention and a transfusion of American whole blood saved him for the gallows.

Tojo was the only one of the three to stand trial. Hitler supposedly died in the ruins of Berlin as the Russians closed in. Mussolini was killed by Italian partisans.

Col. Marion P. Echols, MacArthur's public information officer, said seven of the war criminals that were hanged today were possible captives of the Japanese, but the army gave no details of the hangings. It promised to hand out more information later to newsmen, who were not permitted to attend.

The first of the condemned men dropped to his death at one minute past midnight today (10:01 a. m. Eastern Standard Time).

Who was the first to die and the order in which they went were not indicated. It also was possible several were hanged at once because the executions went off fast.

The hangings were finished by 35 minutes after midnight.

Announcement from the Army Public Information Office said: "Between 0001 and 0035 Dec. 23, all seven of the war criminals that were condemned by the international military tribunal for the Far East were hanged."

Utmost secrecy surrounded the execution at the prison on strict orders from General MacArthur.

In addition to wartime Premier Tojo, the other six hanged were: Gen. Koki Hirota, the Manchurian plotter.

Koki Hirota, former premier. Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, former war minister.

Gen. Heitaro Kumura, chief of the Japanese armies in Manchuria.

Gen. Iwane Matsui, who commanded at the rape of Nanking.

Gen. Kenji Doihara, chief of staff in the Philippines.

The brief announcement gave no other details.

The army promised, however, that details of the last minutes of the seven warlords would be made public as soon as witnesses could be interviewed at the prison.

Newspapermen were not allowed to attend.

The seven were convicted of plotting and waging aggressive war in the Pacific and the Far East. An 11-nation Allied tribunal sat in judgment on them for 2½ years.

Headquarters has announced that seven of the former war leaders and military leaders will be cremated. To prevent enshrinement of the war criminals, (Turn to Page Seven)

11-Year-Old Boy Is Rewarded For Averting N. Y. C. Wreck

Canastota, N. Y., Dec. 22—(AP)—An 11-year-old boy gets the first part of his reward today for warning the New York Central about loose plates and couplings on the track that carried the crack Empire State Express through here.

In 1958, Jimmy Colcough may have the second part—a job with the railroad if he wants it.

The first part of the reward includes a party at Jimmy's home at nearby Beeches Bridge.

The railroad provided a Christmas tree, a holiday dinner, and as a gift—an electric train. The Central already has had Jimmy's farm home wired so he can operate the train.

J. J. Frawley of Syracuse, general manager of the Railroad's lines east, reported this last night: On Nov. 20, when Jimmy was walking along the tracks near his home, he noticed loose plates and couplings on the track over which the Empire State Express soon would move. He ran to a crossing and told a watchman. A dispatcher was informed by message and traffic was rerouted until repairs were made.

Frawley said the railroad had guaranteed Jimmy a job when he is 21.

Bar Associations Of North Counties Seek Court In Erie

Pittsburgh, Dec. 22—Spearheaded by the Erie County Bar Association, nine Northwestern Pennsylvania counties have banded together to support United States Attorney Owen M. Burns, Erie, as a candidate for Federal judge to sit in Erie.

Reports received by Jacob B. Held, president of the Erie unit, indicate Mr. Burns will receive solid support from eight other bar groups in Crawford, Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Forest, McKean, Venango and Warren counties.

All nine associations contend, Mr. Held said, that there is enough legal work in the nine counties to make worthwhile appointment of a resident judge for Erie. He pointed out that under present conditions, Northwestern Pennsylvania attorneys engaged in Federal cases must travel to courts in Pittsburgh, Buffalo or Detroit.

Until last September Federal Court rules stipulated that two terms of the first of the year. Presiding Judge Gibson, 79-year-old veteran of 26 years service on the Federal bench, announced early this month he plans to resign after the November term.

The association, therefore, backed by bar groups in the eight neighboring counties, has adopted a resolution urging appointment of Mr. Burns to the expected vacancy on the Western Pennsylvania District Court. Because he lives in Erie, these groups feel he could hold court there at least once a week.

A vacancy in the Western Pennsylvania District is expected soon after the first of the year. Presiding Judge Gibson, 79-year-old veteran of 26 years service on the Federal bench, announced early this month he plans to resign after the November term.

The association, therefore, backed by bar groups in the eight neighboring counties, has adopted a resolution urging appointment of Mr. Burns to the expected vacancy on the Western Pennsylvania District Court. Because he lives in Erie, these groups feel he could hold court there at least once a week.

Telephone Co. To Distribute Books Monday

Distribution of new telephone directories will start here next Monday, and is expected to be completed by the end of the week, it was announced today by James R. Coker, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

Approximately 10,400 copies of the new green-covered books will be delivered by mailmen, Mr. Coker said. This is an increase of about 800 copies over last year's distribution.

The new directories contain approximately 9,400 alphabetical listings, an increase of 800. There are also 1,500 classified business and professional listings, an increase of 50.

OPERATES AT LOSS
Like hospitals nearly everywhere, the one at Greenville is operating at a loss. In the last three months the loss has been $3,500, of which $2,000 has been in care of charity patients. Cost of maintaining such patients at Greenville averaged $9.09 per patient per day during the quarter. The state appropriation allows only $5.50 per patient per day. Services costing $3,165.28 were rendered to charity (charity) patients, but the state will reimburse the hospital for only $1,125 of that amount.

Father Knickerbocker Again Digs Out From Record Snow

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(P)—Mother Nature is slipping. She let the big city down this time.

Father Knickerbocker is again the world's biggest snow man. But the old boy wasn't knocked on his ear by the advent of winter this year, as he was 51 weeks ago.

Taken by Broadway standards, the giant snow storm of last Sabbath was strictly a low-grade production. It should have been tried out first in New Haven, Boston or Philadelphia before being brought to the big time.

Granted it was the third deepest snow ever to fall here—19.5 inches. But you don't grade an opera or a play by how many people crowd onto the stage. Nor do you judge a chicken by counting its feathers.

Compared to the high drama of the blizzards of 1947 and 1948, this year's snowfall was strictly vaudeville. Even at that it would never get top billing at the old Palace theater. It would be lucky to get a week at Loew's State.

Everybody in the metropolitan area today feels cheated. Here they want the biggest and the best—or nothing. And there is a widespread feeling that the storm failed diamally to live up to the weather bureau's advance publicity bluffs.

There were a lot of things wrong with it. For one thing it opened on a Sunday—a clear sign of mismanagement by someone who cares if it snows in New York on a Sunday? Everybody is already at home and up to his armpits in the Sunday newspapers.

And it was too well advertised. It lacked punch, drama, surprise. Even the dear old Long Island Railroad, the commuters' delight, was ready and waiting. It only cancelled 24 trains in the first 24 hours, and many a veteran rider will insist this makes it little different from a normal day.

The sanitation department, which a year ago was pretty much in the position of Custer in the battle of the Little Big Horn, this year got a head start. It had nearly 20,000 men out early, and almost as many snowflakes fell on them as on the streets—if we may stretch the point a bit.

Even a midget had to look hard to find a place to flounder. Talk to a survivor of the famous storm of '88, and he says:

"You call this paltry thing a storm? Why in '88 the snow piled up to second-story windows, and the East river froze clear across. You could walk on ice from the gas house district to Greenpoint in Brooklyn."

And as for a year ago, when the snow stacked up 25.8 inches before the weather bureau could say "th-th-th-thermometer"—well! that was an epic adventure.

Times Topics

CHEST REPORT

The 1948 financial report of the Bradford Community Chest, read at a recent meeting of the board of directors, showed that agencies participating in the drive were paid in full $79,853 for the year.

STEAL YULE LIGHTS

Theft of Christmas lights valued at more than $75 from the Bradford Coca-Cola Bottling company's plant in suburban Foster Brook last week brought stern warning from state police. The robbers also took the wire strings as well as the bulbs.

ATTRACTS ATTENTION

The very lifelike nativity scene which has again been erected between the First Lutheran church and parsonage on East street, is attracting much attention from passersby, with the entire scene floodlighted and soft music playing in the background.

PROBE AUTO THEFTS

Late Thursday state police of the Corry sub-station made a fourth arrest in attempts to halt automobile thefts in the area. They picked up Delmar Buell, 18, of Corry, in connection with the thefts after he was implicated by Vincent Clark, Corry, in the theft of Theodore Glatz' vehicle from a parking lot in the city.

RABBITS RELEASED

A shipment of 10 dozen rabbits purchased in Missouri by the Corry Rod and Gun club arrived in Corry and were distributed Friday in various areas surrounding the city. When they were uncrated it was discovered that 13 of them had died en route, a higher percentage than usual according to express company officials.

NEWSBOYS' FUND

Through the efforts of 30 "Old Newsboys" Friday an additional $900 was added to Meadville's Jimmy Moore Toy fund through the sale of 1,850 copies of the Meadville Evening Republican. The sale sent the fund well over the $1,200 goal set by the sponsoring Central Station firemen.

OUT EVERGREENS

George McCool of Route 1, Franklin, was held in the Venango county jail yesterday, charged with having cut three evergreen trees from state game lands in the Dempseytown area. Game Protector William T. Campbell, of Franklin, made the arrest and said others are being sought for similar thefts. The state law provides a fine of $25 for each tree taken.

Station Here To Broadcast Kiwanis Event

Kiwanis International and the Mutual Broadcasting System will cooperate Christmas morning to present a special half-hour radio program, which will be heard locally through the facilities of Station WNAE at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, December 25.

The broadcast will originate from Baton Rouge, La., with Christmas selections by the famed Baton Rouge Kiwanis Chorus. A switch to Chicago will herald the arrival of Santa Claus at a Kiwanis-sponsored party for underprivileged children. J. Belmont Mosser, president of Kiwanis International, then will extend a brief greeting from his home at St. Marys. The program will return to Baton Rouge for a closing by the chorus.

Consisting of business and professional men affiliated with the Kiwanis club there, the Baton Rouge Chorus has won wide recognition throughout the south during the past year.

Underprivileged children in the Baton Rouge area will attend the broadcast as guests of the club. Other Kiwanis-sponsored parties for needy youngsters will be held simultaneously over the nation, it was learned.

Ladies' Union At Irvine Has Party

Amid genuine Yuletide atmosphere, 18 members of the Ladies Union of the Irvine Presbyterian church and their guests, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Prout, of Tidouste, and Miss Janet Ahlgren, of Warren, enjoyed a baked ham tureen dinner and Christmas party at the MFO clubhouse, which has been decorated with winter greens, a Christmas table scene and the traditional Christmas tree.

A "winter wonderland" centered the attractive dinner table and consisted of a frosted tree, snow balls and snow figures. Other decorations were lighted candles in holiday colors and pine sprays dotted with colored balls. Favors were dainty frosted Christmas trees made by Mrs. Raymond Crull, who was responsible for all the very effective appointments.

Due to illness in the home of the president, Mrs. Ernest Crull, the program which followed the serving was conducted by Miss Theresia Nelson, who read the Christmas story from the Book of Luke for the scripture lesson.

"The Harmony of Christmas" and "Legends of the Christmas Tree" were the topics for the evening and readings were interspersed with the singing of Christmas carols, closing with the reading of a Christmas story by Dr. Prout.

Since greens are so much in evidence during the holiday season, a game entitled "Greens" was enjoyed as a spell-down, with prizes for each member. Gifts were exchanged by members and "Secret pals."

The credit for a very delightful evening goes to Mrs. Roy Lightner and her aids, Mrs. N. B. Hulings, Mrs. Werner Nyberg, Mrs. Raymond Crull and Mrs. Inez Westfall.

The January 20 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kermit Vicander.

Y-Teen Awards Committee Has Adopted Project

Y-Teens who are members of the awards committee of the High School Girls Club have adopted a German family as their project for the year.

The awards committee is for girls who want to do something more than the regular program or Girls Club activities. If, at the end of the year, they have earned a certain number of points, they receive one of the Y-Teen awards. About 20 girls are working on awards.

This year the girls have adopted a German family for their main awards project. A 39 year old mother and her six lovely children make up the Schulenberg family. The widow's family was a member of the German Resistance and was hanged by the Gestapo after the attempt on Hitler's life. The mother and children were driven from their home in the east by the Russians and live now as penniless refugees in the Western Zone.

One box has already been sent by the Y-Teen awards girls and it is their hope to send one to the Schulbergs every month. The adviser, Mrs. Ruth Bailey, and the program director, Mrs. Cecelia Allison, are helping the girls with their project.

are especially looking forward to greeting the many alumni.

PAK Chair will participate in the program with the following numbers: "The Virvin's Lullaby", "Hear the Bells", "There's a Song in the Air", "Voices of the Sky", and two selections from Handel's "Messiah", "And the Glory of the Lord" and the "Hallelujah Chorus".

Another event for PAKers, alumni and friends will be the New Year's Day dance to be held at the Woman's Club from four until eight o'clock, with music by Orrie Beebe and His Orchestra.

PAK Plans For Holiday Events

From the holiday issue of PAK Patter it is learned that all concerned are eagerly anticipating the annual holiday tea, which will be held this year in Dunham parlors of First Methodist church.

The date is Sunday, December 26, and the hour is five in the afternoon. All PAK members and friends are cordially invited and those handling the arrangements

Offers an Eye to Pay Bills

Mrs. Ellen Peters, 21-year-old Cincinnati, O., mother, wants to sell one of her eyes for $10,000. Medical bills have put the family in debt, and a third child is expected in March. Her husband earns almost $200 a month, but that's not enough to pay their medical expenses. That's daughter Rita Ann, 2, with Mrs. Peters.

They Send It Up—To Shoot It Down

Into the air goes the OQ-19A at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O. The little target plane, twice as fast and large as any previously developed, is a remote-controlled "clay pigeon." It weighs 300 pounds, is 10 1/2 feet long with a 12-foot wingspan. At a 200-yard range, it looks like a normal-sized pursuit plane at 500 yards distance. Rockets catapult it aloft.

Parachute Brings Down New Target Plane

The Air Force's newest flying target, the OQ-19A, is landed by means of a cargo-type parachute. The plane is remote-controlled from either ground or air, and the parachute can be released by the operator or it automatically releases if the radio carrier wave is interrupted. Another device releases the parachute as the plane lands, so it can't be dragged along. It was tested at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O.

'Kitty Hawk' Comes Home to Roost

Suspended from the ceiling, the original Wright Brothers "Kitty Hawk" is presented to the American people by a representative of the Orville Wright estate at Smithsonian Institution ceremonies in Washington. A plaque placed on the plane gives the Wright Brothers full credit for discovering the principles of flight. Suspended in the background is Lindbergh's famed "Spirit of St. Louis."

Three Receive Collier Trophy for Supersonics

President Truman awards the 1947 Collier Aviation Trophy to three Americans who first demonstrated that man could fly faster than sound. Award winners are, left to right, John Stack, government scientist whose research helped make the flight possible; Capt. Charles E. Yeager (shaking hands with the President), pilot who made the first supersonic flight in October, 1947; and Lawrence D. Bell, aircraft manufacturer who designed and built the plane.

Eight And Forty Salon Membership Has Annual Party

The December meeting of Warren County Salon, 405, Eight and Forty, was highlighted by an enjoyable dinner at the Blue and White Restaurant, followed by a Christmas party held at the YWCA activities building.

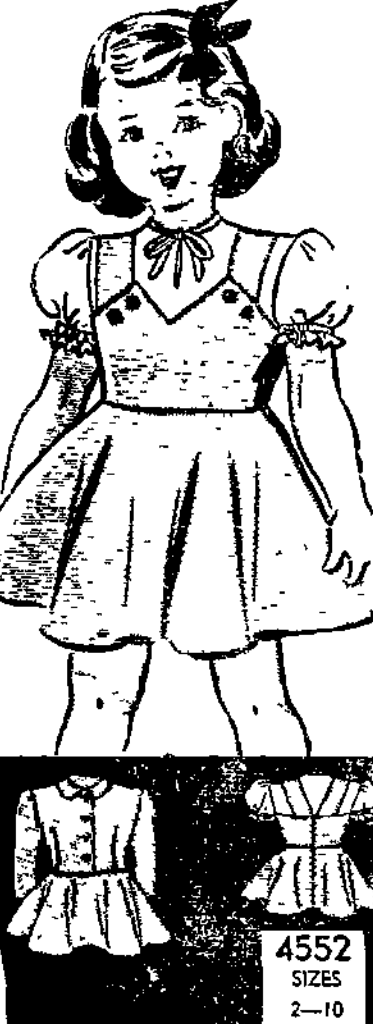

A short business session was conducted by Chapeau Orabelle Shuck, when it was voted to send a special gift to the nine year old girl at Malvern Tubercular Hospital adopted by the Salon, in addition to gifts from each individual member.

An item of special interest was noted in a letter received from the department chapeau, Mrs. Connie Sunday, of Blairsville, saying that the little boy who is pictured on this year's Christmas Seals is a Pennsylvania child, Wayne Bonner, of Delaware county, whose mother was killed in a traffic accident and whose father is seriously affected with tuberculosis. He is the youngest of five children and has been adopted by Delaware County Salon, 62.

Post chapeau's wings were presented to Mrs. Milton Witz by Mrs. Shuck.

After the business meeting, members were entertained with a brief Christmas program, gifts were exchanged and a social hour was enjoyed.

STARBRICK BROWNIES ENTERTAIN MOTHERS

Members of Starbrick Brownie Troop 46 entertained their mothers for a Christmas party in connection with their regular meeting. Five new girls were invested by their leader, Mrs. Otto Sidon: Beverly Atkins, Kay Dunham, Connie Broolini, Carol Bright and Anna May Utsch. Mrs. Douglas Smith, assistant leader, and Mrs. Robert Keller, committee member, were also invested.

A short program followed and gifts were exchanged. Then, Brownies and mothers were invited to the cafeteria room, where the committee, Mrs. Guy Schuler, Mrs. Robert Keller and Mrs. Pearl Huchbone, served lunch from beautifully decorated tables. At each mother's plate was a gift made by the girls.

Play-Pageant At Bethel Church Is Greatly Enjoyed

"The Scarlet Ribbon", a Christmas play-pageant by Alberta Hawse, was presented by the Bethel Evangelical United Brethren Sunday school to a large congregation which gathered in the church parlors to witness this pleasing event. General commendation of the excellent characterizations and the fine message of the play was expressed.

The action began in a modern American home early on Christmas Eve, portions of Biblical prophecy and their fulfillment being portrayed in the dimly-lighted scenes of Act II, and returned to the home of Martha and Jimmy (several hours later) for the third and final act. The splendid handling of difficult emotional lines held the undivided attention of the audience as near tragedy showed Martha that the scarlet ribbon of Christmas, which weaves through the Bible, ties the past and present together and that Grandma's religion is far from old-fashioned.

Vivian Channing played the part of a modern Christian grandmother, Bonnie Sherwood excelled as her ultra-modern daughter, Martha, with Max Crosby as Jimmy, Martha's husband, and their twin daughters, Trudy and Judy, were played by Lois Jean Morey and Marilyn Eames. Rev. Roger Morey was narrator for the second act, with the following appearing in the roles of the Biblical characters: Mary, the Virgin, Joyce Anderson; the annunciation angel, Harold Gilson; shepherds, Dick Sherwood and Norman Blackmer; Isaiah, the beloved prophet, Marion Blackmer; Micah, another prophet, Oscar Sherwood; Simeon, an old rabbi, Paul Caldwell; Anna, an old prophetess, Barbara Frantz; Joseph, husband of Mary, Roger Caldwell.

"The Scarlet Ribbon" was produced under the direction of Joyce Andereg, assisted by Edith

Here Really And Truly Is St. Nicholas

By JOE WING
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Port Washington, N. Y.—Here, really and truly, is what Santa is like:
He's eighty-eight years old and seven feet tall, lives with Mrs.
Claus at the North Pole, and visits 152 (or on the other hand, it may be a billion) children each Christmas Eve with the help of his magic reindeer.
This is a pretty good cross section of opinions from second grade children at Main street school.

And if second grade children don't know about Santa Claus? "suband truly, who does?"
The youngsters were answering a questionnaire on "What do you know about Santa Claus?" submitted by their teachers at the request of the principal, Miss Charlotte Merriman.
While the answer is typical,
there was nothing out and dried about the returns. On the subject of who Santa is, the children dictated these comments among others:
"A jolly old man—he's real all right."
"Mother and Daddy give the money, but there is a real Santa."
"A man—American."
"A man, a person very ordinary."
"My father, but I think there's a real one too. Some say there isn't."

"I think he's Bing Crosby."
Not all the children of course, thought him eight-eight years old.
One girl figured him to be 50,000 years old and a foot high. Others decided he was as young as 15 and as tall as 60 feet. But the consensus showed him up as elderly and out-size: he's been around a long time, but he has to handle a lot of work.
While most everybody said there was a Mrs. Claus, not so many thought there were little Clauses.
A few thought Santa was single,
but did have children.
Almost unanimously, even including the youngster who pronounced Santa a "fake," they said they wrote him letters.
The letters, it seems, along with interviews in stores, are Santa's chief sources of information on what children want.
"We can write now," explained one lad gravely, "because we are smarter."
"He watches and listens," said another.
"He's something like a mind reader," said a third.
The questionnaire was submisted to two third graders also. One reacted in much the same manner as the second grader did. The other, almost to a boy and girl, noted that Santa was "Father and Mother."
But, as Dorothea, summed it up:
"He's a spirit of Christmas. I always say my prayers for Santa and Jesus. I think we should be thankful for both."

Plans Progressing For Leathernecks' Christmas Dance

At a meeting of the committee held last evening, final arrangements were made and reports presented on the progress of plans for the third annual Marine holiday party to be held at the Woman's Club on December 25.

The Leathernecks have engaged Harry Summers' Orchestra to play for dancing from nine until one o'clock, and the committee has planned suitable decoration of the ballroom for the occasion. In addition to its dance music and novelty numbers, the band will feature two localists, Donlyn Baird and Bob Daye.

Reports presented last evening included that of the ticket committee, which showed a good response to the advance sale. Tickets may be had from any member of the detachment or at various business places about town. The public is invited and a record attendance is anticipated for this third annual party.

sent 28 sweaters and 24 skirts to the YW World Emergency Fund in New York for reshipment to needy girls overseas. Members of the group felt this project would give them a personal share in World Fellowship Week.
Seventh and Eighth Grade and High School Y-Teens held special World Fellowship programs and dedicated their gift sweaters at that time.

The High School Girls Club also gave proceeds of $42.85 from their first basketball dance to the World Fellowship Fund.

Libraries In State Receive New Oil Book

Libraries throughout the Pennsylvania grade crude oil region have received from the Pennsylvania Crude Oil Association complimentary copies of Dr. Paul H.
Giddens' book, "Early Days of Oil," according to W. C. Wenzel of Oil City, association executive manager.

He said the distribution of the association has totaled nearly 500 volumes. In addition to libraries within the region, he said, gift copies also have been sent to libraries in more than 70 cities of the United States where association jobber members are located.
Recipients of a copy of Dr. Giddens' pictorial history of the beginings of the petroleum industry in Pennsylvania included the Warren Public Library, Warren

High School and Youngsville High school.
When the Association board of directors learned of Dr. Giddens' idea to put in book form a photographic record of the boom oil days that followed "Colonel" Drake's discovery well at Titusville in 1859, it endorsed the proposal and subscribed for a special printing.
Dr. Giddens selected more than 300 pictures from the famed collection of the oil region photographer John Mather, to tell the story of the tumultuous times and picturesque personalities that characterized the Pennsylvania oil fields during the period when today's giant petroleum industry was getting its start.

Struthers Wells Expanding Large Factory At Titusville

Titusville Herald: Encouraging industrial news for Titusville was confirmed by John T. Dillon, president of the Struthers Wells Corporation. The Titusville Iron Works division, where the monthly payroll—not including the office or supervisory force—already exceeds $100,000, is putting the Perry Forge plant into operation to expand its boiler-making capacity.

Mr. Dillon outlined the work already accomplished and some still to be done at the Perry plant—the "forge" in Perry Forge is a carryover from war days and will probably be dropped from the name.

Operations in the plant which was bought from the War Assets Administration will be tied in closely with those in the main iron works boiler shop. The result will be increased efficiency and a wider range of products.

Boilers are big business for Struthers Wells and the company is making them at an increasing rate. They are being used for heating and for power in every corner of the country. Anything which can be done to improve them and to build them more economically, strengthens Struthers Wells' position regarding competition, and very directly improves the job of every S-W employee, a Herald reporter was told yesterday.

At the Perry plant, which covers three-quarters of a city block, the job of insulating the roof and the walls of the south bay has just been completed. The insulation, Mr. Dillon said, will make the building as warm as it is constructed of brick. Eight skylights have been added to the Perry roof, for light and for ventilation in summer.

The south bay, Mr. Dillon said, will be used for the manufacture of water tube boilers up to 1,200 horsepower. Many of these are of a new design which was never undertaken in Titusville before "simply because we didn't have the facilities to handle them," Mr. Dillon said.

Struthers Wells has the manufacturing rights for the Ticotherm boiler, a new type on which patents are held by E. Keeler & Co. of Williamsport, Penna. The Keeler concern has been making them successfully for 11 years and many hundreds are in use. The Iron Works is shipping three 650-h. p. boilers of this special type to Burlington, Iowa, and has orders for the same type from seven other states.

It is a Struthers Wells practice to build up a big stockpile of boilers, storing them wherever room can be found. Then, during the peak building construction months when contractors everywhere are calling for boilers, S-W can often make immediate delivery. It is not uncommon, during those months, for the company actually to deliver many more boilers than it could possibly build during the same period.

G. O. Gondree is manager of the Iron Works. General superintendent of the boiler division is Thomas J. McNamara. His assistants are Fred Battles, Chalmers Mitcham and J. F. McCandrew. Manager of sales is Albert E. Jennings, and his assistant in direct charge of water tube boilers is D. E. Penning. George Olson is chief designer.

The American Legion sponsored another community dance at the Legion Hall Saturday evening which was very well attended. Happy, Ed, and the Gang of Bradford supplied the music.

Study Group
The Study Group sponsored the showing of a Christmas film at the Ludlow public school by the Rev. Mr. Sherman Epler, of Kane, to a good sized audience.

Bridge Club
Mrs. Walter Cox was hostess at her home at a dinner-bridge for the members of the Bridge Club. The table was beautifully appointed, with a Christmas cactus having over 200 blossoms as a centerpiece. The plant is owned by her mother, Mrs. John L. Peterson. Prizes were awarded Mrs. R. E. Wenstran and Mrs. Elmer Jones.

Alexandra and Kiester Connolly were among the Sunday school children participating in the Congregational Sunday school program on Sunday afternoon in Kane.

Miss Margaret Swanson of Ludlow, acting organist of Bethany church in Sheffield, was accompanist Sunday at the Christmas recital given by the choir under the direction of Miss Evelyn Norlin. In attendance from Ludlow were Mrs. William Hanson, Mrs. Emil Nelson, Mrs. Julius Swanson, Mrs. Stanley Carlson, James Nelson, and Mrs. Ernest Swanson.

Miss Rose Nelson, a recent surgical patient at the Kane Community Hospital, returned home Saturday. Friends gathered at her home on Sunday afternoon to celebrate her birthday. Coffee was served by the guests and Miss Nelson was given many lovely gifts.

James Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nelson, has arrived home for the Christmas holidays from Mt. Alto Forestry School of State College.

Ludlow basketball fans are watching with pride the center of the Kane team, Douglas Erickson, who already is making headlines. Allen Nelson, principal of schools at Lenoir, N. C., has arrived to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Nelson.

Gustav Johnson and Mrs. Dorothy Olson, of Worcester, Mass., spent the past week with relatives in Ludlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McCleary were weekend visitors at the Gilmore home in Helen Furnace. Miss Catherine Pontzer, of DuBois, was a weekend guest at the home of Mrs. Adolf Swanson. Frank E. Nelson was in attendance at the funeral of Albert S. Nelson of Jamestown last Tuesday. Mr. Nelson died of a heart attack on Sunday.

Chapter 22

AS she thought things over she realized that everything Rex said was indeed common sense. They were a partnership and so far he had certainly paid out more than he took in. Her apartment was very comfortable and she had everything she needed. She had more clothes than she had ever dreamed of possessing. She was glad Father Toughy had come and had so easily understood she was not living in sin. She didn't care what anyone else in the old neighborhood thought. She went back there to church again, but only because it was Father Toughy's church. She knew Joe was always there in a corner watching her, but he never came up and spoke. No one did. She arrived in a taxi with Roy and left with him. If anyone thought Roy was her sin she didn't care. She was helping him. Father Toughy was helping him. No one else mattered.

And she did enjoy the trip to Maine. It was like joining a holiday group, and she had never been in the country before for more than a one-day outing. It was a grand, happy two weeks. There were long walks and picnics and boating trips. She had been a little afraid of being considered an outsider and being everyone was most kind. She laughed and enjoyed herself, realizing that she had been very lonely of late. No one pried into her business, and since everyone had great ambitions each willing to listen to anyone else. Her dancing was applauded by the company as well as the audience. She was a summer stock company success and reviewers said nice things about her.

Rex wrote her to stay on after her engagement was over, as she was seemingly benefiting so much and in the city the late August heat was at its worst. He hoped to have grand news for her on her return, and while he didn't say just what that was, he did say he wanted her to look her glowing best for a screen test. The thought seemed to lift her up so she fairly floated over the ground as she walked. Hollywood, that was to be her real new life. All this was just preparation for it.

Walking in the woods, she found a moss-covered clearing between the trees and danced there. No one saw her. Several squirrels peered out curiously at the Irish dancer in the Maine woods, and she kissed her hands to them, at which they scampered away. She threw back her head, laughing exultantly as her feet flew. She sang as loudly as she could, knowing no one would hear her even as no one could see her. She was alone, triumphant, glowingly happy. She was going to have everything her heart could desire just as Rex said. She was through with poverty and slums and drunkenness and—and all the past. She was riding the crest of the wave and it was carrying her to the golden sands of California.

Breathless finally, she flung herself at full length on the mossy ground. She felt she could fly. Or else lie there forever drinking in the rich pine-scented air. She flung her wild laughter up toward the towering tree tops high above her. It was all glorious. Even her hard dancing lessons were glorious now. She undressed at last. She would never complain of them again. She would never complain of anything.

She was too deeply stirred to lie long on the mossy ground. She had to keep moving. Once out on the road again she danced along. A car came along with several young actors in it and picked her up. She jumped in, laughing at their queries as to where she had been.

"I've been dancing in the woods. I've never been so happy

Model Railroad Display Has Drive-In Theater

It has taken 20 years to build but John Karalif's model railroad display is his pride and joy. Karalif, a Cleveland, O., hospital maintenance superintendent, houses his toy town on an oversized table tennis table in his basement. Besides the trains, he has built a working drive-in theatre, lower right, with a handkerchief for the screen. The buildings are made of pasteboard, the trees of bits of Christmas trees, the streets and sidewalks are sandpaper, the lawns Turkish towels, the shrubs green-dyed sponge, and the letters on the billboards are made from alphabet noodles. The display is completely electrified, with lights in all buildings. Note the airplanes overhead. (Photo by Flash Findlay.)

Chapter 24

LIE still, Mom. It's nothing. You must be still."

"But I heard Rosalie's voice. I know I did. I want her."

"It wasn't Rosalie at all. You know what she thinks of us. We're cheap shanty Irish. This is a slum."

"I heard Rosalie."

"You only heard that nosy Mrs. Harrigan, and I had to push her out."

"But I'm expecting Rosalie."

Lottie snorted but could say no more as Joe came along the rooms, walking softly. His voice came in a half-whisper.

"What's the matter, Mom? You shouldn't get excited."

"It's Rosalie. She's here. Joe. I know she's here."

He bent and kissed her. "You're dreaming, Mom. You have to take it easy. Rosalie don't even know we're living. You know that."

"But I heard her. Go look. She was at the door. Go find her."

Lottie gulped. "I told her it was Mrs. Harrigan. She's always trying to force her way in."

"Joe. Go look. I heard her. I'm going to get up."

Lottie, frightened, pressed her down again. Joe said, "I'll look, Mom," and went to open the front door. There was no one there, of course. The hall was deserted after being crowded the night before and that day. It meant everyone had accepted the combined word of the doctor and Father Toughy that Mrs. Monahan was out of danger. He drew a deep breath. He had no idea where Rosalie was. Probably far away, since she hadn't been to church for three Sundays.

He went slowly back and shook his head at his mother's eager glance. "No, Mom. You dreamed it, that's all." She closed her eyes and he went on back to the dining room. Bella was washing dishes in the kitchen and Pat was drying them, holding them so carefully in his great powerful hands. He looked at Joe with that special smile he reserved for the boy he loved as a son and brother combined.

"Is she all right, Joe?"

"Yes. She thought she heard Rosalie's voice but—"

The platter dropped from Pat's hands. "Thank God. She did come. I knew she would."

"I sent her a telegram. I signed your name. Joe. I knew she'd come for your mother. I had to do it. I had to make amends. I caused all the trouble. Go talk to her. Go."

Joe stared at him. His voice came dully. "She isn't here. I looked. Lottie said it was Mrs. Harrigan."

Joe went out into the hall. He looked out into the street. Pat was running up the block, still carrying the dish cloth. Joe stood irresolute, confused. Then slowly his eyes turned to the stairs and traveled up. The next instant he was leaping up them three at a time.

"Rosalie."

He called softly but there was no answer. He drew a deep breath and there was magical fragrance in it. He needed no more. Three steps carried him behind the chimney. She was there, sitting on her traveling bag. She was just a shadow but unmistakable. "Mom is waiting for you. She heard your voice."

There was still no answer. He bent over the stiff erect figure and kissed her gently. His voice was choked in his throat.

"Your heart brought you here. Don't make Mother pay for the hurts we caused. She almost died last night. She's better now but she wants you. Don't take it out on her."

"Lottie pushed me out."

"Lottie always was a fool. Here, let me take your bag."

"How did you know I was here?"

"Why did you come up here. That's the answer."

THEY went down the stairs slowly. He didn't want to hurry, though his mother was waiting. Rosalie was close to him, touching him on the narrow stairs, and he wasn't sure they would ever be so close again. He had kissed her up there in the warm darkness, but he wasn't sure he'd ever kiss her again. Her lips had held no response, no acceptance. He might be with her for the last time. She had come to see his mother, not him. He turned to face her in the lower hall.

"Shall I go in first?"

There was no answer. Instead the street suddenly broke into shrieking clangor. Pat burst wildly in from the street.

"Joe! It's the engines! They're comin' this way."

There was no mistaking the wall of the siren. Joe darted out, waving his arms, and managed to swing on as the great ladder truck swept past. He had dropped the suitcase. Pat picked it up and seemed to see the girl at last. He stood with lowered eyes.

"Will you please come in? Joe's a fireman. He's off duty, but that has to come before everything."

"I know."

He moistened his lips. "You came very quick."

"Planes travel fast."

Lottie flung open the door. "Joe got on the hook and ladder," she cried. "Pat, will you—"

Words died as she saw Rosalie. She hesitated, then stood aside. Rosalie hurried in. Pat raised his head, eyes glowing as he heard the glad cry of greeting from the bedroom. He and Lottie went back in at the dining room door. (To be continued.)

Chapter 25

FLORRIE MONAHAN's railroad flat was like that of most of her neighbors. The front room or living room opened on the street, and the best bedroom was merely like an extension of it to the rear. It opened on an air-shaft, which was important on the top floor of the house, but on the parlor floor, as called, little air and even less light came in that way. Both were gotten second hand from the front room when the dividing curtains were pushed back, and they usually were except when a person was dressing. They were pushed back now, even with Mrs. Monahan in bed and sick. Since it was very hot she needed all the air she could get.

Covered with a broad sheet for modesty's sake, she rose like a snow-covered mountain from the bed. The bedroom made a small stage as if waiting for a front-room audience. It might have been a setting for La Traviata with a heroine no fatter or leaner than many who essayed the role. The lights were set to feature the broad couch bed. Somehow it would have been most ludicrous if it had not been so serious.

But it had been serious. All last night it had been a question whether the overworked heart would keep going. This morning it had still been such and go. Now with night again the woman was definitely better and really resting at last. Lottie was sitting with her, a much subdued Lottie indeed. She had been sent for last night and hadn't returned to her job.

Lottie touched her mother's forehead with a surprisingly gentle hand. The old woman opened her eyes and smiled at her.

"Go on, Lottie. I'm all right now. You've been so good."

Lottie bent and kissed her forehead. "All quiet now, Mom."

The fat face glowed. "You haven't called me Mom in years. I had to almost die to get it, didn't I?"

"You mustn't talk like that. Lottie's hands were gently fixing the pillow. "In fact, you mustn't talk at all. Just rest."

"As if I could rest without talking. When I stop you know that's the sign to take me out and bury me."

Tears welled up in Lottie's eyes and ran down her cheeks. She tried to brush them away but the old woman held her hands.

"Don't cry, Lottie. Never do that for me. You can do more by lettin' little Tuffy come to see us once in a while."

"I will, Mom. I promise."

"Ah, it's good to hear you say it. I'll mean so much to Pat. Where is that poor man? Is he afraid now I'm feeling better I'll be after scoldin' him again for what he can't help?"

"He's eating, Mom. He and Joe. Bella is making sure they eat."

The woman sighed. "Can't you get rid of Bella? She means well but she's like a leech sticking to Joe. Why can't she see he don't love her? His heart belongs somewhere else. I know. He can't hide it from me."

"I'm not hungry. I'd rather sit here with you. Remember when I was so sick in this same room years ago? You made me stay here so you could wait on me, though I'd run away from you. They wanted to take me to the hospital, but you wouldn't let them do it."

"Do you still remember that? Ah, it was so long ago."

"I had forgotten, Mom, but I'll never forget again. I—I wanted to tell you when we were alone."

"You should tell Pat, too. It would do him good. He's done so much for us. Lottie, and him no kin or kin. I was wonderin' what would become of him after I was gone and he had no place to go, nobody to scold at him."

"You're not going anywhere, Mama, and you won't have to scold any more. He promised he was not going to get drunk ever again. You were too sick to know, but he knelt by your bed and swore it. Father Toughy was here. We all were."

"MAY I come in?"

The soft voice came from the semi-darkness of the front room. Lottie jumped to answer it. She knew whose voice it was and hoped her mother hadn't recognized it. Rosalie, bag in hand, was looking in at the front door. Lottie faced her grimly, breathing heavily. Her voice was almost a hiss.

"You can't come in. Mother is sick. She can't see anyone."

"I know. Joe sent for me. She wants me and—"

"It's a lie. She hates you. We all hate you. Go away at once."

"But I had to come. I flew down."

"Rosalie! Is it you? Come in! Come."

Lottie thrust her out and banged the door shut, bolting it before rushing back to the bedroom. Her mother was trying to sit up. She forced her gently back on the pillow.

THE CLINT

BY MICHAEL O'MALLEY and RALPH LANE

THE CORONER SAYS HE RE-EXAMINED WINDY GALE'S BODY AND THE BLOW ON THE BACK OF THE HEAD PROBABLY DID COME FROM SOMETHING LIKE A BOTTLE.

AND WITH THOSE FINGERPRINTS OF CUDDLES MALLOY, YOU'VE GOT YOUR EVIDENCE, CHIEF.

WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR? LET'S GO!

Meanwhile, in her ancient mansion Altmeza Malloy was troubled in her mind.

TO THINK CHRISTOPHER, MY OWN GRANDSON, MIGHT HAVE MURDERED A MAN FOR MY MONEY!

HE'S ASLEEP NOW. I'M GOING TO DO A LITTLE INVESTIGATING MYSELF IN THAT TOWER ROOM!

CHRISTOPHER MALLOY WAS NOT, AS HIS GRANDMOTHER THOUGHT, ASLEEP, FAR FROM IT.

WHAT WAS THAT? SOUNDS LIKE SOMEBODY IN THE HALL.

CRACK!

HMM! WHAT'S THE OLD GIRL UP TO NOW?

SHE'S GOING UP TO THE TOWER ROOM! SHE HASN'T BEEN UP THERE IN YEARS! CAN SHE BE SUSPICIOUS?

I WANT TO SEE FOR MYSELF THE SCENE OF THIS MURDER— IF IT WAS A MURDER!

HERE BY THE TOWER ROOM WINDOW IS WHERE IT HAPPENED— IF MURDER DID HAPPEN.

A SLIVER OF GLASS! THEN IT'S TRUE! CHRISTOPHER DID—

YOU'RE RIGHT, GRANDMOTHER. I DIDN'T SWEEP UP WELL ENOUGH AFTER I KILLED WINDY GALE WITH A BOTTLE, RIGHT ON THAT VERY SPOT.

Corry Beavers Topple Warren Dragons From Area's Unbeaten List

Underdog Corry High toppled Warren Dragons from the ranks of the district's unbeaten basketball squads last night on the Corry court, after an uphill battle that saw the Beavers rally in the final period to win by a whisker, 46 to 45.

The defeat was the first setback for the Massamen in eight starts this season. Next game for Warren will be a tilt with the Alumni next Tuesday night in Beatty gym.

Art Pitts, stocky Corry guard, proved the fly in the Dragon's ointment by sinking a long arch from midcourt to put Corry ahead for keeps, although two minutes and 15 seconds of playing time still showed on the clock.

Cash Elston, wearing jersey No. 11, set a blistering scoring pace for Corry with eight field goals and seven good tosses out of eight tries from the foul stripe for 23 points. By chance, Gail Nelson, also wearing jersey No. 11, was high scorer for Warren with 14 points on seven field goals and no good shots on three tries from the black line. Both players were banished from the game because of too many personal fouls in the fourth period. Joe Vanik of Corry also was benched in the final period on personal fouls.

The Beavers took a slight edge at the start of the game in 3-1 scoring, but the Dragons, sparked by Nelson with five baskets, gained a 15-12 lead at the end of the first stanza and widened the margin to five points in 27-22 scoring at the intermission. Ace Hesch got in some nifty long shots for Warren in the third period to help push the Dragons up to a 41-33 bulge by the end of the third frame.

Then came the disastrous fourth quarter in which the Blue and White could score only a bare four points while the Beavers were swishing the cords for 13. Vanik and Nelson went out in quick order on fouls with Crawford filling Vanik's place and Bob Brumagim subbing for Nelson.

Elston promptly stole the ball and went in for a good shot to make the tally, Warren 41, Corry 35. Elston again found the net on a long shot and Warren's lead was cut to four points in 41-37 scoring. Warren called time. Pitts then slotted a free throw and Elston again picked off a Warren pass and went in for a good shot to cut the Dragon's margin to a single point as the Corry followers went wild.

The officials called a technical foul against Warren, and Hughes made good the try to knot the county, 41-41. Pitts missed a free throw for Corry. Shattuck drew a foul off Crawford and made it to again put Warren ahead, 42-41. Elston went out on fouls and Bill Coleman took his place. Shattuck made good the free throw to give the Blue and White a two-point edge, 43-41. Crawford, however, quickly erased the difference with a neat pivot shot. Three minutes

BOWLING

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

Heavy blasting highlighted Industrial tenpin league firing on Penn slides last night with five competitors cracking the three-game 600 ring.

Norm Wooster of Timmis Bros. slammed the pins with gusto for a 650 aggregate on games of 216, 233 and 201. Others included Lefty Clark for Kinnears with 211-205-192-612; Jim Urbanski with 193-223-193-609; and Ernie Wilson with 194-188-221-603, both for Farr's Sports Shop; and Ed Hagberg with 170-213-223-606 for Warren County Insurance.

Fred Gagliardi, of the Warren County Motor Sales team, had a nifty 234-pin single game, but only had enough in his other two games to make a 578 total.

Match results were: Warren County Insurance 3, Kinnears 1; Warren County Motor Sales 3, Check Bros. 1; Farr's Sports Shop 3, Warren Food Lockers 1; Timmis Bros. 4, West Penn Oil 0.

YOUNGVILLE LEAGUE

Engstrom Tailors and A. B. C. Store slugged it out toe to toe in a Youngville tenpin league tilt on Arcade alleys last night, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, each squad had gained two points.

The Tailors took the first game 83 to 80, and also the second, 84 to 84. Then the A. B. C.'s blew hot and cooled the third round, 87 to 83, and gained enough advantage to take the point for match total by three sticks, 2508 to 2505.

In other league tilts, the pace-setting East End Store tripped up Pleasant Valley, 3-1; Youngville Billiards also gained a 3-1 triumph over Fairmont Hotel; and Millies Inn topped Walters Hardware, 3-1.

High individual performers included J. Gurdak, of Youngville Billiards with 184-180-195-569; R. Sweetland, for A. B. C. with 558; F. Nichols and C. Abbey, each with 546 aggregate for Engstroms; and W. Caffrey for East End Store, with 544.

Connie Looks For Elusive Flag In 1949

Philadelphia, Dec. 22—(AP)—Connie Mack hinted today on the eve of his 86th birthday that 1949 might be the year for that elusive "one more pennant."

Smiling a bit mischievously, the man who helped form the American League and guide it through 48 seasons admitted that he has high hopes his Philadelphia Athletics can land the loop championship next season for the first time since 1931.

The remarkable old gentleman, whose Cinderella club hovered near the league lead until the last month of the '48 campaign, said cautiously his team should be "a little better."

Mr. Mack doesn't plan any formal observation of his birthday tomorrow. As a matter of fact, he said he celebrated his birthday last October.

The Reciprocity club threw a party for me last October," he said.

"What is the Reciprocity club, Mr. Mack?"

"A group of businessmen." Then he paused for a moment. "You might say they're a group of optimists."

He'll chat with reporters and pose for photographers at a press conference tomorrow morning at which time a huge birthday cake will be cut. He'll appear later on a television show with veteran broadcaster Stony McLinn.

Then on Monday, Mr. Mack will leave for St. Petersburg, Fla. for a two-month vacation before spring training for his Athletics begins at West Palm Beach.

Returning to his ball club, Connie said that he expects his outfield to be stronger next year thanks to the addition of veteran outfielders Taft Wright and Wally Moses.

Youngsville Cagers Top Wolverines

Youngsville Eagles got off to a flying start in the first half and coasted to an easy triumph over Sheffield Wolverines in a neighborhood scrap last night on the Youngsville floor.

Borton led the firing for Youngsville with 17 points, representing eight field goals and a free throw, while Wagner was the big gun for Sheffield with seven tundercracks and two foul shots for 16 points.

Warren Athlete Named On Lions' All-Opponent Squad

A Warren athlete at Michigan State and two of his teammates were named to first string positions on the 1948 all-opponent team selected by the once-beaten Penn State football squad, according to word received here from State College.

He Warren Huey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Huey of 811 Pennsylvania avenue, east. The Huey family came to Warren some time ago when Mr. Huey was transferred to the Pennsylvania Electric company's plant here.

Selection as end on Penn State's all-opponent team is not the only grid honor that Warren has received. Last season he was awarded the Governor's Cup for the State of Michigan as the outstanding player, and this year he was named in Associated Press balloting for lineman of the week.

Huey's teammate, George Guerre, whippet back, was voted the outstanding player of the year in the opinion of the Nittany Lion while another Michigan State star, Tackle Pete Fust, was also picked for the all-opponent squad.

Three other teams took two places each, and single berths went to Washington State and Pennsylvania.

Basing their decision on the College center's outstanding defensive play the week prior to the game, the Lions players named Warren Davis over Chuck Bednarik for the pivot spot.

Davis and Halfback Armand "Frenchie" Allaire were the College choices. Syracuse placed Guard Jim Flacco and Halfback Bernie Custis, while Pitt's standard-bearers were End Bill McPeck and Halfback Jimmy Joe Robinson.

Washington State's nominee was Lauri Niemi, tackle, and the Penn selection was Dolph Tokarczyk, guard.

On the second team were Leo Sladany, Pitt, and Bob Sponaugle, Penn, ends; Nick Bokkovic, Pitt, and Hal Vogler, Michigan State, tackles; Ed Bagdon and Don Mason, Michigan State, guards; and Bednarik, center. The second team backfield was composed of Ray Dooney and Carmen Falcone, Penn, Lynn Chandnois, Michigan State, and Jerry Williams, Washington State.

Elimination Series Set For Matmen

Elimination matches to determine the weight classifications for the grapplers on Warren high school's new wrestling squad will be held at the high school Thursday and Friday, Jan. 6 and 7. First interscholastic meet for the squad is slated for Thursday night, Jan. 13.

The wrestlers are being coached by Bob Jewell, of the Beatty school faculty, with some able assistance from Bill Hewitt of the borough police force, a former star wrestler.

The local squad attended a wrestling clinic at Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers College over the past weekend with about 25 high schools participating.

The panel of instructors who demonstrated the latest techniques and rules of wrestling included Huber Jack, wrestling coach of Lock Haven State Teachers College; Jim Reed, wrestling coach of Edinboro State Teachers College; Art Weiss, wrestling coach of Clearfield high school; and Lynn Kling, regional PIAA and intercollegiate official.

Committee Member States Condon Given "Unfair" Deal

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington—(AP)—Remember Dr. Edward U. Condon, the atomic scientist who got bushels of headlines in 1948?

He exploded on the front pages when the House Un-American Activities Committee pelted him with accusations.

Condon denied them. His loyalty has been checked and okayed by the FBI, the commerce department, and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The committee has proved nothing wrong against him. It talked repeatedly of holding public hearings where he could defend himself.

It never did hold the hearings. Now at year's end a committee member admits Condon got an "unfair" deal.

The attack on Condon was led by J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey Republican and chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee.

But Thomas has been silent and absent from the committee since he was indicted last November by a federal grand jury on charges of trying to pad his office payroll with government money.

Putting the pieces together, the story goes like this:

Condon, now 46 years old, worked on the atomic bomb during the war. In 1945 President Truman made him director of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

That bureau, which does scientific work for the government, is part of the commerce department. Condon's boss is the secretary of commerce.

In 1947 the FBI checked on Condon, talking with more than 300 people to find out whether he was loyal and trustworthy.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI boss, sent a report on Condon to W. Averell

Harriman, then secretary of commerce. The report, of course, was confidential.

Hoover's letter said a number of things, but these two in particular:

1. Condon had been in contact with a person alleged to have been a Russian spy.

2. But there was no evidence Condon had been disloyal in associating with that individual.

In February, 1948 the commerce department made its own check on Condon's loyalty and found him okay. It kept the report confidential as similar reports are kept quiet.

Suddenly, on March 1, a subcommittee of Chairman Thomas committee made public a report of its own. Thomas was chairman of the subcommittee, too.

It accused Condon of being "one of the weakest links in our atomic security; and it said he "knowingly or unknowingly entertained and associated with persons who are alleged" Soviet spies.

To back up its charges, the committee made public the No. 1 part of FBI Hoover's letter, mentioned above. But it said nothing about the No. 2 part which said Condon apparently hadn't been disloyal in associating with the alleged spy. This part came out later.

All this went on for months. In July the Atomic Energy Commission said it had checked on Condon's loyalty and found him all right.

Still nothing happened. Condon got no hearing. Then over the weekend, Rep. Nixon, California Republican member of the Thomas committee, said the committee had been "unfair" to Condon.

So the story that started with a bang seems to be ending in a whisper.

Breeders Of Section Meet At Meadville

Northwestern Pennsylvania Livestock Association, which comprises Warren, Erie, Forest and Crawford counties, held an organization meeting Monday evening in the Meadville Chamber of Commerce offices. Twenty-three breeders, processors, and educators were present.

At present, the association is primarily interested in the breeding, production and marketing of beef and swine.

Dave Crum, Crawford county vocational agriculture adviser, was elected president, and Charles York of the farm department of the First National Bank of Meadville, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The following directors were elected from this area: Earl Lawrence, Warren RD 2, representing the Breeders-Harry Bergstrom, Sugar Grove RD 4, representing Fairs-John Sanders, Sugar Grove RD 4, representing F.F.A.—and T. R. Sponsler, Warren, representing Vocational Agriculture.

The following boys of this area have already purchased steers: Marvin Bergstrom, Daniel Burgett, Ben Pirth and Belmer Hitchcock of Lander; and Ben Hoy, John Sanders and Maynard Sweeney of Sugar Grove.

GARLAND

W. C. Leofsky has returned from the Warren hospital where he was a surgical patient.

Miss Clifton Tresler is convalescing at her home following an appendectomy in the Corry hospital.

Miss Nonnie Krantz of Erie visited Ida N. Taylor one day recently. She was a former Pittsfield resident.

Audrey Smith is back in school this week following an illness of pneumonia.

Several Garland residents saw Blackstone, the magician, in Jamestown Monday.

The sale sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary and held in Garland's community building was well worth while for all concerned.

Wave N. Carlson visited Sunday at the Smith home.

There are many evidences of Christmas to be seen in every thing but the weather that still continues mild, lawns are still green. The Garland school put on their Christmas program in the community building on Wednesday evening, all the pupils participating. A large crowd enjoyed the entertainment.

The Christmas party will be held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Chas. Klenke. This yearly party has been held since Rev. and Mrs. Southern served in the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Southern suggesting this friendly Christmas gathering to which all are welcome.

Norman Taylor and Roy Richards were in Warren Tuesday.

Vivian Smith attended the Business Women's dinner held in Youngsville Monday evening.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Foster Rhodes. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes resided in Garland several years ago.

The deer season didn't bring in many deer by local nimrods as has been the case in previous years.

Ted Smith is rejoicing over the fact that having turned his 16th birthday he has now obtained a driver's license.

Phyllis Price passed her 14th birthday. Best wishes.

Increase Shown In Stocks of Crude Oil

Stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum at the close of the week ended Dec. 11 totaled 237,735,000 barrels, according to data reported to the Bureau of Mines, United States Department of the Interior. Compared with the total of 233,932,000 barrels for the preceding week, this represents an increase of 3,803,000 barrels, comprising an increase of 2,587,000 barrels in stocks of domestic crude and an increase of 1,216,000 barrels in stocks of foreign crude. Heavy crude oil stocks in California, not included in the gasoline bearing stocks totaled 9,777,000 barrels, an increase of 38,000 barrels.

Current reports of the industry for the week ended December 11 indicate an increase in crude oil production and a decrease in crude runs. According to the A. P. I., the daily average output was 5,620,000 barrels, or 5,000 barrels above the total of the preceding week. Daily average crude runs to stills of 5,650,000 barrels were 43,000 below the level of the preceding week and 546,000 barrels above the week ended Dec. 13, 1947.

Times Topics

FAMILY BATTLES

City police were called upon three times yesterday to settle family affairs, one of which turned into a near free-for-all in the Loblaw parking lot about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. When peace was restored, the matter was turned over to the Salvation Army for settlement.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Two applications were made for marriage licenses at Recorder Don Schuler's office in the Court House yesterday. They were Robert Emanuel Pedersen and Gloria Geneva Swanson, both of Jamestown, N. Y., and Inge Wilham Larson and Dorothy Pearl Stafford, also of Jamestown, N. Y.

NEW FURNITURE

Judge Allison D. Wade's chambers in the Court House present a handsome appearance with the addition of a davenport and two chairs of red morocco leather, just purchased by the county commissioners. This project completes decoration of the judge's rooms which have been painted Williamsburg green with green drapes. Walnut woodwork and a soft grey rug complete the furnishings. The rooms are a credit to the county.

BARS CLOSE CHRISTMAS

At a meeting of the Warren Hotel, Tavern and Club Association held yesterday afternoon, the association voted to close all public places for the entire Christmas Day but left Christmas Eve closing optional with the owners. The association also, in addition to the $75 given to the Times-Mirror Christmas fund, voted $300 for the Salvation Army Christmas work. The association has also sponsored the Junior Chamber of Commerce Nativity scene on Wetmore Park.

MAILING FIGURES

Postmaster James K. Bell said this morning that Monday's mailing, while the heaviest on the part of the public, did not exceed last Friday's 111,000 cancellations made at the local postoffice. A large quantity of New Process Company mail accounted for the record on Friday. However, from December 1st to December 21st inclusive, the local postoffice is about 170,000 cancellations ahead of last year. A net gain of about 100,000 cancellations over last year is estimated.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS FINED

Judge Allison D. Wade passed out three salty sentences to drunken drivers in Forest county in court there on Monday. Fred W. Lusebrink, of McKeesport, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in Forest county jail. John C. Osborne, of Stoneboro, received a similar sentence on the same charge. Judson F. Carson, of Hunter Station, whose arrest was the result of an accident in which some persons were injured, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and costs and given 60 days in Forest county jail.

SAVED BY SUSPICION

Kane Republican: Two Haines street women, Miss Lillian Wetmore and her mother, Mrs. Margaret Risborough, today have much to be thankful for—especially the distrust of a war courier enclosed with a Christmas gift sent from a relative in the other end of the state. Afraid of the item, they put it in a burner in the back yard, and when the trash was burned, it cut loose with an explosion that blasted the inside of the heavily constructed brick burner and sent residents of the neighborhood rushing out to locate source of the explosion. Two very shaken women described the souvenir—which was in all probability a hand grenade, complete with ring and pin, and very much alive.
